Fairless Hills Man Dies In Freeway Accident

Car Jams Driver Against Rail After Complete Turnover

The light snow flurries that covered Lower Bucks County yesterday took their toll when a Fairless Hills driver died in an accident.

Eugene John Gray, 25, of 320 Andover road, became the second Lower Bucks traffic fatality this year when he was killed instantly at 1:53 p.m. on the Route 1 by-pass over the Trenton freeway extension in Falls Township.

Bristol Heads Demand Equal Time In Twp.

Deny That Borough Is 'Dying On Vine' In Unofficial Role

Bristol Burgess Anthony R. Nicol and William J. Veitch, president of Borough council, disagree with the recent remarks of a Bristol township commissioner that the borough is "dying on the vine" and want to make known their disagreement to the Bristol township board of commissioners.

Mr. Nicol and Mr. Veitch today directed Borough Solicitor John P. Fullam to write to Township Secretary Thomas F. Coman asking permission to appear at the next commissioners' meeting "in rebuttal to the totally unnecessary remarks."

They referred to a statement by Commissioner Albert H. Rogers, Jr., who on Wednesday night commented: "We ought to annex the borough now. It is dying on the vine down there."

Mr. Veitch said he is not acting officially for Council, but in response to numerous complaints by borough residents.

Mr. Rogers made the comment apparently jokingly after the township board moved to protest the proposed lease of borough land near the Lower Bucks County hospital for a drive-in theater. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Good Evening!

Lovely weekend.

No snow, no rain, no fog — just blue skies all the way. That's what the man says.

Watch those winter golfers nibbling at the greens and fairways.

Governor Leader still hitting the headlines and doing it quite well, thank you.

He suspends two members of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission accused of misconduct in office and is continuing his sudden campaign to drive the rascals out of state government.

You can't be critical of that kind of governing. The real test will be, of course, what happens.

And a jet B-17 bomber streaks through the skies—coast to coast—in just three hours and 47 minutes.

Doggone world moving faster than you think.

But we'll tell you something: Don't miss that pops concert by the Delaware Valley Philharmonic Orchestra and Chorus at Neshaminy High tomorrow afternoon at 3.

It'll be a real musical treat all the way.

Nicest thing about being a man is that you don't have to kiss somebody who hasn't shaved for a couple of days.

Authorities disagree on why people have to sleep. And so do the little codgers who want to watch TV.

If you're driving during the weekend, take it easy.

Go to church tomorrow.

Gray's auto skidded out of control on the snow-covered highway, snapped off three guard rails, spun completely around and came to rest against a guard rail.

Falls Township Policeman Joseph Rusky, said Gray was thrown from the car and was pinned between the right side of the vehicle and a guard rail pole.

A wrecking crew from a nearby garage was summoned to the scene and used acetylene torches to cut the guard cable and free the body.

Gray was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Thomas Dougherty of Morrisville. Deputy Bucks County Coroner Louis Galzerano, Bristol, issued a certificate of death stating it was due to a compound skull fracture.

Fairless Employee
Gray, an employee in the tin finishing department of the Fairless Works of U.S. Steel, lived with his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hall.

He was born in Philadelphia and resided in Fairless Hills for the past four years.

Surviving
He is survived by his parents, one sister, Mrs. Wesley Espenschied of Riverside, N. J., his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Maley, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, both of Philadelphia; two nephews, and a niece.

Funeral services will be Monday at 2 p.m. from the J. Allen Hooper Funeral chapel, 45 North Pennsylvania avenue, Morrisville. Friends may call at the funeral chapel tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Program Set For Faculty

Pupils in the Bristol township and Deliaas school systems will get a day off from classes Monday when teachers take part in the "in-service training program" conducted by the administration.

The teachers will have a chance to discuss and compare their training methods with those used in other school districts.

Consultants from colleges and other schools will work with each group of teachers. The purpose of the program is to enable teachers and administrators to determine what is good education for our children, said Miss Ruth Trauger, supervisor of elementary education.

The program for high school teachers will be at departmental levels. Each department will re-

Salesman Saved From $198 Loss

Because of the alertness of Lawrence Headley, of 209 Cedar street, Bristol, and a Mill Street businessman, a cigarette salesman from Ivyland retrieved his wallet with $198 intact before he knew it was lost.

Mr. Headley, who is presently unemployed, was in the Straus Luncheonette on Mill street, Bristol, when owner Harry Straus discovered a wallet on the counter, containing money and identification cards. He showed the wallet to Mr. Headley, who noticed a card identifying its owner as R. H. Peak, of York road, Ivyland, salesman for a cigarette firm.

Delaware Valley Philharmonic To Give Two 'Pops' Concerts

A new treat will be provided for music lovers tomorrow afternoon and again next Friday night when the Delaware Valley Philharmonic orchestra presents the first "pops" concert in the history of Lower Bucks county.

Under the baton of Conductor Henry Kerr Williams, the 70-member orchestra will present a varied program that is sure to please every taste. Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," Romberg's "Stout Hearted Men," and Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony" are among the attractions on the musical program.

In Auditorium

The first of the two-concert series will be performed tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. in the Neshaminy High school auditorium. It will be repeated Friday at 8:30 p.m.

The Delaware Valley Philharmonic, now midway in its third season, is attracting an increasingly large following of music fans, and turning the attention of others to fine music. Tomorrow's combination, the popular Gershwin and Romberg tunes plus the old masters, has attracted advance inquiries and ticket sales that will assure a large crowd in the Neshaminy auditorium.

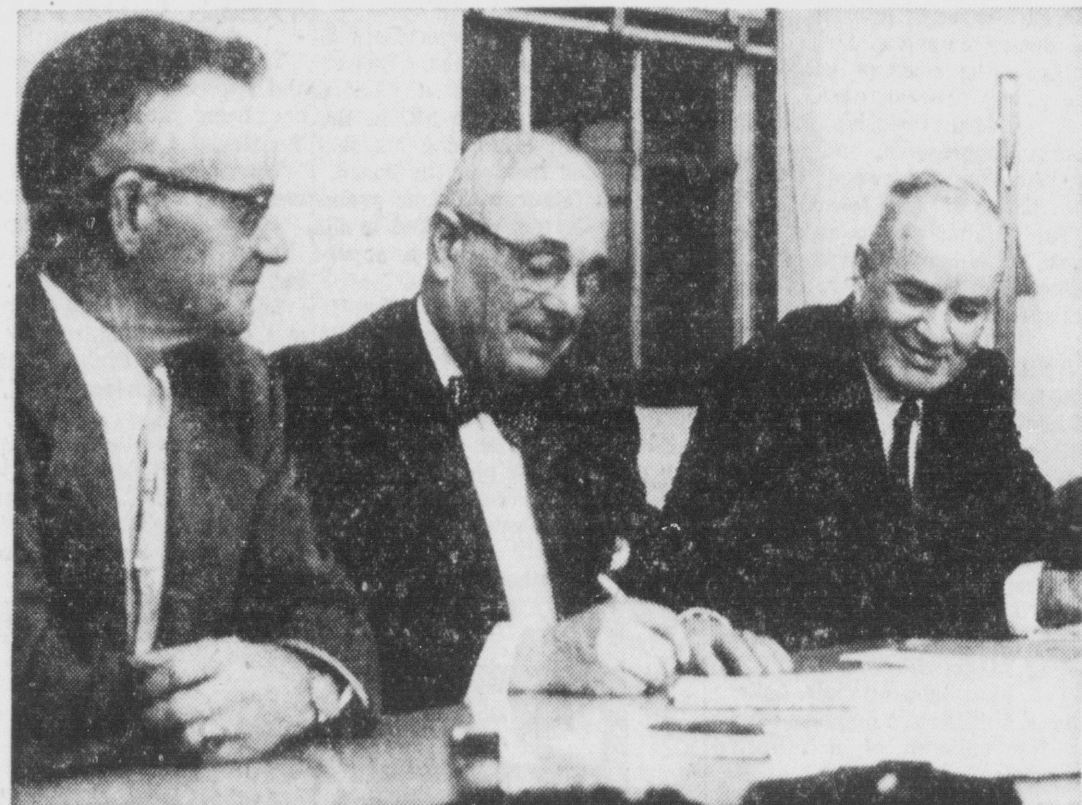

The High school is located on Old Lincoln Highway west of Langhorne in Middletown township.

Directions

To drive there from U.S. Route 1 in the Fairless Hills and Morrisville vicinity, go west to Bellvue avenue in Pennel, Route 413. Then go right to the second traffic light, at the Maple avenue (Old Lincoln Highway) intersec-

Growth Was Sudden In Lower Makefield

(This is second in a five-part series)

By MAURY ALLEN
Courier and Times Staff Writer

Modern Lower Makefield township as it stands today was born in 1895.

In that year, Yardley declared itself a free and independent borough. Though surrounded on its four sides by Lower Makefield township, Yardley incorporated as a separate entity.

Lower Makefield's geography has remained static from that day to this.

But its heart and its history have changed violently almost with each passing day.

At first, the change was timid and placid. From a few scattered farm homes, the township blossomed in 1925 to a residential community of 1500.

And the trend was set.

Better homes were built as Trenton and Philadelphia people pushed to the country before the city was pushed on them. Developments sprung from grass lands. Rural lands brought forth exquisite homes. The first tracts in Arbor Lea, Westover, and Edgell gardens were built.

Lower Makefield was on its way.

The growth was slow. By 1945 only 1800 lived in the township. Twenty years had seen only a growth of 300.

Double Figure

By 1950, with fresh capital from World War II profits available, Lower Makefield shot forward, almost doubling its population.

In the past five years, the township has leaped to an estimated population of 8000.

Explanation for this enormous growth is difficult to determine. It is probably a composite of many factors. Not the least and maybe the foremost was the birth of the Fairless Works plant of United States Steel in 1951.

Outward Spread

A United States Steel spokesman estimates that 10 per cent of the company people live in Lower Makefield township. Those in Lower Makefield are of the upper echelon, including the head man, Edgar B. Speer, general superintendent.

And with U. S. Steel came an ever growing trend to move to "suburbia."

Probe Discloses Red Spy Ring May Extend To Canada

NEW YORK—UP—Investigation covered yesterday with the arrest of three spy suspects here on espionage charges.

Commissioner Leonard H. Nicholson, head of the Mounties, declined to comment on possible Canadian links with the new spy net. But a senior Mountie official admitted the Mounties have been cooperating with the FBI in connection with the ring.

Speeding Car Gives Police Busy Night

One Man Caught, Another Jumps Out To Elude Pursuers

A speeding car on River road, Yardley about 11:30 p.m. yesterday, caused havoc for several hours to area police.

Chief Frank Morgan, Yardley police, said Cecil Morris and Louis Gallaway, of Newtown were speeding through Yardley on River road "passing everything in sight," when they were pulled over for questioning.

Both men jumped from the car and ran, Chief Morgan said. A call was sent out for help from Lower Makefield police, Morris-

Three Arrested

Existence of the alleged spy ring was disclosed yesterday with the arrests of two naturalized American citizens and a third person awaiting citizenship.

The suspects, Jack Soble, 53, his wife, Myra, 52, and Jacob Alham, 64, all of New York, were picked up at their homes here Friday and charged with delivering U.S. defense secrets to Soviet agents. All pleaded innocent at their arraignments before a U.S. commissioner and were ordered held in $100,000 bail each, pending a hearing on Friday.

FBI Silent On Others

The FBI said "upper members" of the espionage group "are not at the present time identifiable" but it was understood that several Soviet officials may be expelled for their part in the ring.

The case appeared to involve the largest espionage conspiracy since the case of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, who were executed for stealing U.S. atomic secrets.

Cold To Stay In L. Bucks

Fair and colder weather was forecast for Lower Bucks today with a few snow flurries expected in the western sectors.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said colder and drier air moved across the state last night as the result of a large high pressure system centered over the upper Mississippi Valley.

Gradual clearing will occur over most of Pennsylvania today with the exception of snow flurries continuing in the west and mountain sectors. Tonight will be mostly fair and colder except for snow flurries in the mountains.

High temperatures today will be in the 20's or low 30's and the expected low tonight will range from 12 to 20.

Oil Burner Steam Brings Firemen

Four fire fighting units answered an alarm today to stop the flow of extra heavy steam caused by a broken safety valve on an oil burner.

Units from Fairless Hills, Falls township, Levittown, and Edgely rushed to the home of Dr. Glenn W. Bricker, Willowood drive and Levittown parkway, about 6:20 a.m. and helped shut off the steam.

Dr. Bricker uses the burner to sterilize medical instruments. Falls township police reports "little damage" done to the home and equipment.

George Case Sped Once Too Often

Former major league base stealing champion George Washington Case of Morrisville couldn't confine his speeding to the baseball diamond and as a result lost his right to drive in New Jersey for three months.

The 41-year-old former player with the Washington Senators and Cleveland Indians, who lives on Evergreen road, chalked 12 points under the system in New Jersey, enough for him to lose his license.

Three Violations

State Motor Vehicle Director Frederick J. Gassett, Jr., revoked Case's drivers license as a result of three speeding violations between 1954 and 1956.

"I'm going to be riding the trains for the next three months," Case said.

He is currently head baseball coach at Rutgers university.

In the 1939 season with the Washington club, Case stole 51 bases and led the American League the next four years with 35, 33, 44, and 61 bases consecutively.

Last Time

Again in 1946 Case led the league with 61. At that time he was playing with the Cleveland Indians.

His son, George, Jr., is a student at Pennsburg High school and a regular on the basketball team.

A FINE FIX
NEWARK, N.J. —UP— Sidney Richman Friday drove downtown to pay a $2 traffic ticket. He double-parked when he couldn't find a spot and dashed into court to pay his fine. When he returned he found a $5 ticket parked under his windshield wiper.

Court Sets Number At 6

Woman Limited In Keeping Dogs

The number of dogs which Mrs. Leonora Peterson, Belmont avenue, Southampton, can have on her property was limited to six yesterday by Judge I. Louis Rubin.

The judge put the stipulation in as part of the one year probation provisions he imposed on Mrs. Peterson yesterday. The sentence was the result of a jury conviction on March 28, 1956, on Mrs. Peterson for maintaining a public nuisance in allowing her dogs to bark excessively.

New Trial Refused

Judge Rubin refused to grant a new trial to Mrs. Peterson on Jan. 11, after studying the records of her case for almost nine months.

In sentencing her yesterday, he ordered her to pay $360 cost of prosecution and placed her on a year's probation, with the provision that she reduce the number of dogs on her property to six, that she pay $100 to the county and that she keep her dogs indoors after 9:30 p.m.

Judge Rubin was firm in stating that he had no intention of having county officials "police" Mrs. Peterson's property to abate any possible future nuisance.

He said the nature of the conviction on the minor criminal charge only insures punishment on the offense for which Mrs. Peterson was convicted. He said the court, under the conviction, cannot take steps to prevent any future occurrences such as the one on which the woman was convicted.

Sentence Mandatory

Judge Rubin said, "The court had nothing to do with the jury verdict or with the case coming to the county court." He explained a sentence had to be imposed because of the jury conviction.

Prior to passing the year's probation sentence, Judge Rubin said, "We're going to try to work something out here, but it is not our intention to impose imprisonment."

The judge explained that the $100 which Mrs. Peterson was ordered to pay the county "is not a fine."

Noted Rabbi To Be Feted

One of America's leading clergymen, Rabbi Abbi Hillel Silver, will be honored on his completion of 40 years in ministry at the annual dinner of the Philadelphia Council of the Reformed Synagogues, tomorrow evening, at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

Dr. Silver, of the Temple in Jerusalem, is one of the foremost Jewish leaders in the world and a leading figure in American Reformed Movement.

Participating in the dinner will be members of Temple Shalom, Levittown, whose chairman for the affair is Mrs. Joseph Cornell, Shepherd lane, Levittown. The annual dance will follow the dinner.

Accident Kills Three-Week-Old

SARASOTA, Fla. — UP — A three-week-old boy, the first child born here in 1957, died yesterday from injuries caused when a rust remover fluid containing hydrochloric acid accidentally was sprayed down his throat.

James Lamar Duckworth, born Jan. 1 and declared winner of Sarasota's annual Baby Derby, was in his mother's lap while she cleaned his bottle warmer.

She pressed the button on the container to activate the spray. The fluid, however, shot out in the wrong direction, spraying into the baby's mouth.

Missionary Group To Be Organized

A meeting for men and women interested in forming a missionary group of the Plymouth Congregational church, Levittown, will take place Monday at 8:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Russell Henley, 61 Sugar Maple lane, Levittown.

This group's aim will be to work on various projects for the mission areas in the United States and abroad.

CARBON TO COURTROOM
LOS ANGELES —UP— Phillip Leslie Crawford, 25, told a judge Friday he was only trying to blow the carbon out of his engine when he was arrested for speeding along at 105 miles an hour.

Figure Sets New Mark In Area Schools

Starting salaries of Bristol township school teachers will jump to $4000 next year, the highest in this area.

The figure represents an increase of $400 over the $3600 starting salaries of teachers without experience for last year.

Raise For All

Following an executive board meeting this week, Benjamin F. Stockett, Jr., president of the board, stated, "the substantial increase in starting salaries will be reflected in our present salary schedule by a minimum raise of at least $400 for every one of the present 325 teachers."

"We expect that this relatively high salary, accompanied by the board's action in sending administrators very early to recruit at colleges and universities, will insure the Bristol township school district of continuing to attract the finest teachers available."

More Money

Stockett added, "We know that maintaining Bristol township's high educational standards is dependent on the quality of instruction. Of course, it will follow that a considerable increase in the budget expenditures will have to be made."

"For instance, this new raise will mean an additional $400,000 or a total expenditure of about two million dollars for teachers' salaries alone. The remainder of the budget will, no doubt, increase proportionately."

Radio Set-Up Explained

Personal knowledge of the firemen between the companies was urged this week in a county-wide firemen's radio communications set-up by Charles Roeschen, Trevoise.

Reporting on the fire policemen's mutual aid and the fire chiefs' coordination plans, Roeschen at a meeting of the Bucks County Firemen's Communications Association at Trevoise Fire House said: "We have the load so far as communications are concerned."

About 65 radio firemen, representing 16 of the 32 companies, heard Roeschen explain the county-wide radio communications set-up which will alert all the available man-power among the volunteer firemen in case of a man-made disaster or emergency.

The county is divided into four districts with bases at Quakertown, Doylestown, Trevoise and Falls Township Fire Houses. These four districts are then divided into zones.

Drill Planned

"Some Sunday we plan to run a drill," said Roeschen, "in order to see how many men we can muster in case they are ever needed."

"There are 15 companies represented in each of the four districts."

Charter President John Ziaylek, Yardley fire chief and one of the founders and pioneers in firemen's radio in the county, was re-elected president of the association for his third term. Other officers are vice president, Stuart A. Wilson, Lahaska; secretary, Arch Robertson, Oakford; and treasurer, H. Alvin Ridge, Trevoise.

Treasurer Ridge reported $426.96 in the treasury, with none of the 32 companies delinquent in the 1956 dues. Several have not, as yet, paid their 1957 dues.

Bishop Corson Heads Drive

Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, of the Methodist Church Philadelphia Conference, has been appointed general chairman of the Pennsylvania United Church center Campaign of the Pennsylvania Council of churches. Herbert E. Ransford, Jr., president of the Council, made the announcement.

Long active in church and educational affairs, Bishop Corson lauded the growing cooperation of Pennsylvania's churches in serving where each alone would find it impossible.

"In Pennsylvania," he said, "50 church bodies from 19 denominations focus their influence on urgent spiritual, moral, and social needs through The Pennsylvania Council of churches. This unity in Christ gives our churches greater strength and vitality that can be only for the good of the Commonwealth and all its people."
